

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA

CORCORAN DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY

553 CABELL HALL

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VIRGINIA

Oct. 3, 1961

Dear Jim:

This is getting downright annoying. Today I got another bill from the Colonnade Club for you, this time for another $4.10. Did you take a batch of towels and sheets that belonged to your dear friend Dave Moyer? Apparently the other bill only went through the first of August or so, and this was for your last couple of weeks.

Had lunch with Pat Hale and Prof. Hardy Dillard the other day. Hardy turned to Pat and asked: "Were you responsible for bringing this fellow Silver here?" I quickly looked the other way, ready to declare that I never knew you and certainly had nothing to do with getting you here. But much to my surprise, Dillard then went on to say that you must be a great teacher, that his son had worked harder for your course than for any other he ever took, that it was the first course he ever got interested in, etc, etc. What happened -- did you give the boy an A after all?

Newcomb Hall has refused the student group of the Council permission to use their meeting halls any more, but I don't think you were responsible.

As ever,

